

Data Use on Rise

At least 14 states are currently reporting—or have plans to report—value-added information on their teacher education programs, but not all of them will use the information formally for program accountability.

	Race to the Top?	Year of Public Disclosure	Year Used for Accountability	Other New Measures
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA	✓	2014	2016
DELAWARE	✓	2016
FLORIDA	✓	2013		Persistence of graduates in teaching; production in high-needs fields; placement in high-needs schools; revised certification exams
GEORGIA	✓	2014		Persistence in teaching; revised certification exam
HAWAII	✓	2014
LOUISIANA		2007	2010	Production and placement in high-needs fields; surveys of graduates
MARYLAND	✓	2013	2014
MASSACHUSETTS	✓	2013	2013	Persistence in teaching; placement in high-needs fields
NORTH CAROLINA	✓	2011
NEW YORK	✓	2012	2012	Persistence in teaching; production, and placement in high-needs fields; revised certification exams
OHIO	✓	2014		Placement in high-needs fields; advancement to higher licensure
RHODE ISLAND	✓	2012	2012	Placement in high-needs fields; advancement to higher licensure
TENNESSEE	✓	2008		Persistence in teaching; placement in high-needs fields
TEXAS		2012	2014	Beginning teaching performance; quality of supervision of first-year teachers