Under Attack

Bills to eliminate or curtail collective bargaining, do away with teacher strikes, or curb union-dues deductions are advancing in more than a dozen state legislatures.

NOTE: Bill numbers are shown by state where action is taking place. Stripes indicate that several proposals are being considered and are currently at different stages of the legislative process.

SOURCE: Education Week Library Interns Ruth Lincoln and Amy Wickner